Crisis Intervention and Behavioral Health Training Course

Dear Law Enforcement Professional,

Are you equipped to deal with the ever-growing mentally ill population in your community? Do you have all the necessary tools to interact effectively with the mentally ill? Can you determine if a subject is on a substance, is mentally ill or has a developmental disability?

Today, police officers are becoming mental health first responders and are often inadequately trained for this task. Tragedies between the police and the mentally ill are occurring more frequent. One "bad incident" can cause devastation to families, the mental health community, police officers and police agencies. Sadly, we are also seeing police officers and police chiefs losing their careers over some of these high profile types of interactions, not to mention the civil penalties being awarded in these cases.

Embassy Consulting Services, LLC has trained over 6,000 law enforcement professionals on how to interact effectively with the mentally ill and is proud to announce it's newest 8-hour class titled "Crisis Intervention and Behavior Health Training". This course satisfies the requirements of Senate Bill 29 which mandates that all Field Training Officers receive 8-hours of Crisis Intervention Training. This class is co-facilitated by Dr. Elijah Levy, a clinical psychologist who has over 25 years experience working with the mentally ill and Josef Levy, a retired police commander who has over 30 years of law enforcement experience.

Please see the attached flyer for our upcoming class being held at the Seal Beach Police Department on Wednesday, November 16, 2016. Embassy is also accepting reservations to deliver this class at your agency. If you are interested in having your FTO's or other personnel trained, please contact Josef Levy at (562) 577-5874 or at embassy@ymail.com.
