critical incidents, challenging traditional thinking and cultural norms.

This new course, being “rolled out” is titled Empowered Policing “Keeping officers safe and out of the headlines”. The approach in this training is NOT about limiting options or backing down, rather, it’s about INCREASING officers’ options by properly integrating a combination of training, experience, tactics, confidence and effective communication.

Please contact Embassy Consulting Services to learn more about this and other new law enforcement training courses.

Healing Through Dialogue and Action

Dear Law Enforcement Leader,

On May 25, 2020, George Floyd died in Minneapolis, MN. after graphic video captured an officer kneeling on Floyd's neck while handcuffed and pleading for air because he could not breathe. Since that incident, many cities throughout our country have seen protests that are demanding police reforms and more accountability.

These events have significantly damaged police-community relations. As you know, the success of a law enforcement agency can be measured many ways, however, trust and legitimacy are the foundation for law enforcement effectiveness. Research has shown that people are more likely to obey the law when they believe that those who are enforcing it have "legitimacy" and are acting in ways that are lawful, respectful and unbiased.

Building trust can take many years however, it can be destroyed in an instant. Trust starts with engaging in safe, respectful and productive dialogue with your community and stakeholders. Another way is to provide employees with training that forces them to look introspectively and confront the biases that we all possess.

In March of 2015, President Barack Obama's 21st Century Policing Task Force Report was published. The task force was created to strengthen community policing and trust among law enforcement officers and the communities they serve.

Embassy Consulting Services, LLC is ready to assist local law enforcement agencies and municipalities to implement many of the recommendations set forth in the report. Embassy has decades of experiencing creating and facilitating training programs that explore:

- Implicit bias
- Fair and impartial policing
- Racial profiling/Bias-based policing
- Ethical decision making
- De-escalation
- Cultural Diversity/Human relations
- Critical thinking
- Social intelligence
- Historical trauma

Embassy can also assist your community by facilitating police-community team-building forums. These dialogues bring together law enforcement and community members to explore perceptions and expectations they have for one another and include an action planning piece so together, they can move forward to build and maintain a safe, respectful and inclusive community.

The current divide that exists between law enforcement and the community will not go away unless leaders are willing to collaborate with stakeholders, implement prevention measures and make the much-needed investment in valuable, experiential human relations training.

Attached, please find information about Embassy Consulting Services and the 21st Century Task Force Report. Please feel free to contact us at embassyconsultingservices.com or at (562) 577-5874 if you have any questions.

Thanks for the info John. I suppose that is pretty good news, assuming you can get those ridership numbers back up to where they were. But fewer assaults is always a good thing.

Thanks and stay safe.

Yes, with a little less than two months left in this fiscal year, we have documented just half of the Operator assaults that we did last year.

You may recall that we also felt that bus vandalisms were an indicator of the effectiveness of the de-escalation/conflict resolution training you provided to LBT. As of today those, too, are down 33% from last fiscal year.

Ridership is certainly down due to COVID, though I do not have those numbers and they typically take a month or so to publish them.

I hope all is well with both of you and yours.

Dear Friends of Embassy,

At Embassy Consulting Services, LLC, the safety and well-being of our clients is always our priority. We recognize the impact the COVID19/Coronavirus has had on our ability to design and deliver quality training programs to our audiences. We also know that many of our front-line service and public safety professionals are still working and keeping our communities safe during this critical time.

We wanted to share a short but important video on a few quick and easy ways to maintain control and resiliency during these uncertain times. The message is from Heather Williams, PsyD, owner of Premier First Responder Psychological Services and a trainer for Embassy Consulting Services, LLC.

Please stay safe and healthy.

Thank you,

Dear Law Enforcement Leader,

One of the most critical issues facing our profession today is police use of force. In the past few years, our nation has seen controversial encounters involving police officers and the community, many sparking protests and demonstrations. These incidents have also impacted police-community relations and undermined trust, in a time when trust remains the foundation for effective partnerships.

The profession has also seen changes in laws and policies that has some officers feeling disempowered and, in some cases, disengaged from doing what they took an oath to do. Embassy Consulting recognizes the current challenges facing both line level officers as well as police leaders and has designed a new and engaging training course to address these issues.

This interactive training course will explore how officers can successfully manage and resolve encounters without having to escalate or face accusations of excessive force. Students will be introduced to concepts in order to resolve critical incidents, challenging traditional thinking and cultural norms.

This new course, being "rolled out" is titled Empowered Policing "Keeping officers safe and out of the headlines". The approach in this training is NOT about limiting options or backing down, rather, it's about INCREASING officers' options by properly integrating a combination of training, experience, tactics, confidence and effective communication.

Embassy is now taking registrations to schedule and deliver this one-day or two-day training to your personnel at your agency. Please feel free to contact either Joe Levy at joe@embassycs.com or Charles F. Celano at charles@embassycs.com if you have any questions.

Thank you,
Joe
